Midwest School for Women Workers: Renewing our Movement, Restoring our Democracy

June 25-28, 2018
University of Minnesota, Twin Cities

Labor Education Service
Center for Human Resources & Labor Studies
321 19th Ave. S., Room 3-300
Minneapolis, MN 55455
The 2018 Midwest School for Women Workers will bring together women, transfeminine, non-binary, intersex, and gender non-conforming workers from across the Midwest who want to renew our labor movement and restore our democracy.

Morning sessions will be organized into four tracks:
- Beyond the Workplace: Strategies for Building Community Alliances and Creating a More Diverse Labor Movement
- Your Rights in the Workplace
- Leading with Strength and Solidarity
- Internal Mobilization & Organizing

Afternoon workshops and plenary sessions will address a wide range of topics, including:
- Effective Messaging for Unions and Worker Organizations
- Labor History
- Racial Justice at in the Union and at Work
- Understanding the Worker Center Movement
- Sexual Harassment and Sexual Violence in the Union and at Work
- Immigration and Globalization
- Tradespeople and Blue Collar Workers
- Building Coalitions Between Movements

Spanish/English interpretation will be available.

Registration is now open!

Online registration is available at carlsonschool.umn.edu/LES through Friday, May 25, 2018.

Tuition:
- Commuter: $500.00
  - Includes parking; and daily lunch, snacks, and two dinners (optional).
- Room and Board: $650.00
  - Includes housing; parking; and daily breakfast, lunch, dinner, and snacks

Additional information is available on the LES website at: carlsonschool.umn.edu/LES

For questions, please call or email:
612-624-5020
les@umn.edu